We are pleased to announce that Radcliffe Sword Club has been awarded a Sportivate grant that will enable us to renew our supply of electric weapons in readiness for the next beginners' courses running in September 2011 and January 2012.

Sportivate is a £32 million national project that aims to get more 14-25's regularly participating in sporting activities.

Sport Nottinghamshire will be coordinating Sportivate in Nottinghamshire and will be investing approximately £160,000 per year between April 2011 and March 2015.

They will be looking to support and develop projects that will engage with and stimulate 14-25 year olds who don't currently participate in sport or exercise.

Fencing is one of many sports that will be promoted as part of this initiative and the Sportivate project will allow us to build a pathway to bring new members into the club and provide a sustainable activity which they are able to continue after the Sportivate project is finished.
